

On-Site Corporate Massage

Our proactive mobile massage services provide an effective method to combat stress, promote wellness and contribute to a happier, more cohesive workforce.

Expanding work hours, high-stakes deadlines and a focus on hyper-productive teamwork has led to a sharp rise in the incidence of neck, shoulder and lower back pain and stress-related disorders. Workers in these environments report increased fatigue, more workplace errors, and burn-out. Staff absenteeism, turnovers and Worker's Compensation claims are escalating.

To remain at the top of their corporate game, and to retain the best of the best, organizations are seeking to expand on-site services like massage therapy. And those offerings are attracting new talent, and helping reduce the stress and strains of everyday life.

It can be expensive and complex to mount in-house programs for massage. That's where Silicon Valley Massage Therapy Group's expert team of corporate chair massage specialists come to the rescue. We provide turn-key massage therapy on request, or on daily, weekly or monthly schedules on-site or for special events. All we need is a safe, quiet space and we will do the rest.
